To All Retailers and Distributors:

Re: Dansco Relocation

It is with great anticipation and excitement that Dansco announces that after 82 years of operating out the Los Angeles area, we are relocating our main facility to Sumas, Washington. As many of you know, the State of California is not small-business friendly and we have found a larger location and a location that will hopefully continue to provide better assistance to the small business entity. We have begun relocation. We hope that you will understand the need to divulge this information until we knew that this was an absolute fact.

We hope that this new change for our business will allow us to purchase, hold and distribute product more seamlessly and efficiently than ever before. Still we do ask for your patience as we transition the facility to the new location. We anticipate a 3-4-month period of down time. We have hired a company that will transport our inventory and machinery within this time. Still you may continue submit your orders through the fax or email below, and we will process these as soon as we are able.

We will do our best to restart full production as quickly as possible. We hope that you will join us in expecting many additional years to come of profitable business relations with your company. Our email address remains the same so please send any concerns via email and we will respond as soon as possible. We certainly look forward to speaking with each of you in regard to this matter in the near future.

Best regards,

Steven Bruce
